HONORS-DESIGNATED COURSES

- The courses on the list below were nominated by the faculty teaching them or by department chairs or program directors.
- They were chosen as honors-designated courses by the LAHP faculty liaison committee because they meet a minimum number of honors course criteria.
- Honors-designated courses will count for your LAHP honors minor.
- You do not need to do any extra work in these courses – you simply need to maintain a GPA sufficient to graduate with LAHP honors.
- These courses will count wherever they fit into your degree plan—in your major, minor or block electives—AND they will count toward the LAHP minor at the same time.

HIST 3325: History of Immigration and Ethnicity
Topp
08/2012-

Explores the social, political, cultural, and religious lives of the diverse peoples who immigrated to the United States, as well as their impact on the political and cultural life of the United States as a whole. Primary focus on second-wave immigrants, including Southern and Eastern Europeans, and on Asians and Mexicans.

HIST 3390: Introduction to Public History
Leyva
08/2012-

Americans love history! In ever increasing numbers they read historical books and magazines, visit historic sites and museums, watch the History Channel and historical movies, commemorate anniversaries and historic places, save old buildings and family heirlooms, research genealogy and local history. Presidents compare themselves to Lincoln, pundits contrast current wars to past ones, planners create historically themed shopping districts and amusement parks in the hopes of luring tourists and creating community. This class turns its gaze outward from classrooms and textbooks to find and analyze the history that occurs in public—everywhere! Students will be expected to complete assigned readings, participate in class discussions, review public presentations of history (in film, online, and downtown), and participate in public history research and presentation. The course provides an introduction to and experience in the field of public history.

HIST 4325: Junior-Senior Seminar

Readings and discussion on a major issue in history, and individual research into a related topic. The course theme will change from semester to semester. Junior or senior standing required. Required of all history majors; open to history minors and others by permission. Restricted to major: HIST.
